The sources of energy used across the UK are becoming more diverse with renewable energy such as wind, wave and solar power helping to reduce reliance on fossil fuels and create a less polluting power supply. This makes the energy supply less predictable and we need to find ways to store the energy so it can be released when it is most needed. The Thurrock Power Flexible Generation Plant will provide this flexibility with its gas engines and allow energy to be stored in batteries and released into the electricity network when demand for energy is at its peak, thus creating a more stable electricity supply. This is particularly important in London and the surrounding areas due to population density.
